Subjects

During 1985, a major market research study was conducted by the Cataloging Distribution Service and the Subject Cataloging Division of its subject authority products. As an outcome of the online availability of subject authorities at the Library of Congress and the research study, the subject authorities products for 1986 were revised to inlcude:

- A weekly tape distribution service.
- A fully cumulated, annual edition in paper.
- Quarterly, cumulative microfiche editions.
- A monthly update service in paper format.

The major changes in the product line include the addition of a weekly tape distribution service (Subject Authorities), the availability of an annual cumulative paper edition of Library of Congress Subject Headings beginning in 1987, and the discontinuance of the supplements to the Library of Congress Subject Headings.

Serials

New Serial Titles

New Serial Titles is a union list of serials held by libraries in the United States and Canada. It provides comprehensive information regarding serials resources of participating libraries while also serving as a tool for interlibrary loan, reference, cataloging, and acquisitions. Entries are supplied by the Library of Congress and over 500 cooperating libraries in the Unites States and Canada, and are arranged in alphabetical order by catalog entry. Serials not in the Roman alphabet are filed in romanized form.

Computerized support for the production of New Serial Titles was introduced in 1981 through the mechanism of the CONSER Project. As a result, the coverage expanded to include reports of all serials contributed to the CONSER file, regardless of publication date. Each CONSER record included in NST lists NUC location symbols for reporting libraries.

The subscription for 1986 includes 8 monthly issues (January, February, April, May, July, August, October, November); 3 quarterly cumulations (January/March, April/June, July/September); and an annual cumulation.

1986 subscription $350.00
1981–1985 cumulation $350.00
1976–1980 cumulation $225.00
1971–1975 cumulation $170.00

Note: Available from R.R. Bowker: 1950–1970 cumulation at $250.00; microfilm at $100.00.

Symbols

Symbols of American Libraries (1985) $13.00

It records all of the symbols that are found in the National Union Catalog, NUC Books and NUC U.S. Books, NUC Register of Additional Locations, New Serial Titles, Newspapers in Microform, and the National Union Catalog, Pre-1956 Imprints. It also includes many symbols that have been assigned for use in state and local lists of serials, in regional union catalogs, and symbols for Canadian libraries established by the National Library of Canada. This publication is divided into two alphabetical lists, one arranged by the symbols of the institutions and the other by their names. The complete address of every institution appears in both lists.

Filing Rules

Library of Congress Filing Rules (1980).....$5.00

Presents a practical application of the rules since 1971 and accommodates AACR2 catalog entries. These filing rules were written to arrange headings formulated under various cataloging rules and practices. In those situations where AACR2 and pre-AACR2 headings have contradictory characteristics, the filing rules were written to accommodate card catalogs which include only AACR2 and AACR2-compatible headings. Rare Books

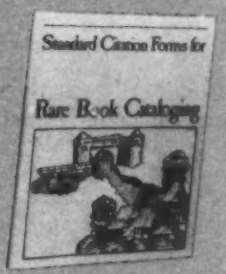
Bibliographic Description of Rare Books (1980)..... $7.50

Consists of a set of rules and rule interpretations for the descriptive cataloging of rare books and other special printed materials as used at the Library of Congress for all cataloging and re-cataloging of pre-1801 printed books, pamphlets, and single sheet publications. The compilation represents the first comprehensive attempt to adapt the conventions of International Standard Bibliographic Description to the needs of rare book cataloging within the framework of AACR2. It gathers together the stipulations that have been derived from accepted national standards and policies for the benefit of rare book catalogers, scholars, researchers, reference librarians, etc.

Standard Citation Forms for Published Bibliographies (1982) $10.00

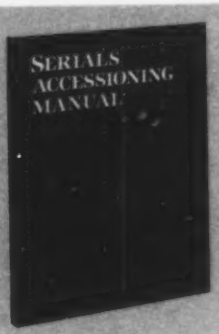
Establishes citation forms for those works that are helpful in verifying, identifying, and describing rare books. This publication provides a consistent citation method for references to published descriptions and it offers a key by which unfamiliar reference citations may be identified. It also makes possible the efficient computer-based retrieval of specific works by means of unique citation numbers. Use of these forms is recommended by the Standards Committee of the Rare Books and Manuscripts Section of the American Library Association for those libraries using automated cataloging and retrieval systems.



Serials

Serials Accessioning Manual (1985) ...$10.00

Describes LC's central serial holdings file and the various procedures for recording serial holdings. Although specifically written to meet the needs of LC's accessioning staff, the manual contains much information of interest to anyone working with serials, including: the definition of a serial, LC's treatment of serials, the various parts of the serial record, explanations of various types of entry, basic procedures for accessioning, specific procedures for handling problem materials, etc.



Subjects

Subject Cataloging Manual: Subject Headings (1985).....$30.00

Describes in practical terms the LC procedures for various cataloging situations. It provides a set of guidelines for cataloging library materials as practiced by the Subject Cataloging Division of the Library of Congress.

This new, revised edition emphasizes procedures. It is not intended to be a general introduction to subject cataloging practice, nor is the theory of subject access its theme, although theoretical aspects of individual topics do occur throughout the manual. This work is intended to contribute to a greater conformity of subject cataloging practice among American libraries and should prove especially useful to libraries engaged in cooperative projects with the Library of Congress. Reference librarians may wish to consult the publication to understand why a certain complex of subject headings has been assigned to a particular work. Library school students may find the publication useful in attempting to familiarize themselves with subject cataloging rules.

LC Subject Headings: A Guide to Subdivision Practice (1981) $10.00

Describes the general components of subject headings employed by LC and reflects practice as of August 1979. This publication reproduces information found in the introduction to LCSH 8, the 1979 annual, and the introduction to LCSH 9, which will fill the needs of those whose need of the most up-to-date information is not great, and those who need the information in the scope notes (LCSH 8). This guide may prove helpful to reference librarians, students of cataloging, and anyone who found the reprint of the introduction to LCSH 8 useful.

Visual Materials

Archival Moving Image Materials: A Cataloging Manual (1984) $15.00

Adapts the conventions of AACR2 to create a set of rules and rule interpretations for the cataloging of archival films and video materials which are standardized for networking and information exchange, utilizing the MARC Visual Materials format and existing bibliographic networks. This cataloging manual is the first comprehensive attempt to set a standard for the creation of cataloging records which meet the needs of the archival moving image community in addressing both research and preservation goals.

This document is not concerned with the specifics of the format, i.e., when to use a particular field, how to set its indicator values and use the subfield codes, etc., but rather, it aids in determining data elements to be included in machine-readable authority records for the purpose of sharing data with other organizations or contributing such records to a nationwide data base.

National Level Bibliographic Record Documents

Intended to assist institutions creating machine-readable cataloging records to be shared with other organizations and/or contributed to a nationwide database. These documents define the specific data elements which should be included in such records and thus help promote the effective exchange of machine-readable cataloging records.

It should be noted that specifies of the formats (e.g., when to use a particular field, how to set its indicator values and use the subfield codes, etc.) and examples illustrating field coding are addressed in another, separately published document, MARC Formats for Bibliographic Data. NLBR documents are issued for each of the MARC bibliographic formats and reflect the MARC Formats for Bibliographic Data through update #11.

• The Catalogs and Technical Publications brochure is issued annually; copies of the latest edition are available upon request. Detailed informational brochures are available upon request for the following products and services:

Catalog Cards
CDS Alert Service
Select MARC: Retrospective Conversion
CDS Retriever Service
Machine Readable Cataloging

• All CDS subscriptions are issued on a January-December calendar year basis. Subscriptions are accepted for one calendar year only. CDS does not accept standing or continuing orders for publications or subscriptions. Current subscribers can renew subscriptions by using the renewal notice issued by CDS at the end of each calendar year. Do not send in renewals until you have received the CDS Subscription Renewal form. Subscribers using formal purchase orders should submit renewal notices with their purchase orders (not under separate cover) to prevent duplication of subscriptions. Order forms and ordering information are provided on the following pages of this brochure.

• Subscriptions ordered after the start of the calendar year may not include all issues produced for the year, depending upon the availability of the stock in inventory. Quarterly, semiannual and annual cumulations are issued for some CDS subscriptions. These cumulative issues assure CDS customers of receiving all the information for a subscription year.

• A CDS customer account number is assigned to each customer. It is essential that the customer account number be quoted on all purchase orders, remittances, claims and correspondence submitted to CDS. The customer account number appears on all mailing labels, Order Confirmation Notices, Monthly Order Summaries and monthly bills. All products and services available from CDS may be ordered through the use of the customer account number.

• Prices are net and not subject to discounting or prorating. Prices for nonsubscription products are subject to change, and the prices charged on each order will be those in effect at the time the order is processed, unless a prior written price quotation has been requested from CDS. Price quotations are valid for 90 days from the date of issuance.

• For general and order information, call: (202) 287–6100

For bills, credits, and payment information, call: (202) 287–6104

All correspondence regarding orders, information or services should be directed to:

In such cases, the customer is directly responsible to the carrier for all additional shipping charges. Requests for special methods of delivery must be clearly stated on your order.

• Orders may be placed by telephone, but such orders must be charged to a CDS customer account with money on deposit. To place your order by telephone, please call the Customer Support Unit 8:00 a.m.–4:00 p.m. (EST), Monday through Friday (except holidays), at (202) 287–6100.

• Customers will receive a CDS Order Confirmation Notice upon entry of an order into our computer. Upon receipt of the Order Confirmation Notice, please review it carefully. If there is any descrepancy between the original order and the material listed on the Order Confirmation Notice, please notify CDS immediately.

Prices

- Prices of all CDS publications and subscriptions are established in accordance with United States Code, Title 2, Section 150. While prices for subscriptions are valid for the entire subscription year, prices for publications are subject to change without notice. Prices charged on each order will be those in effect at the time the order is processed, unless a prior written price quotation has been received from CDS. Price quotations issued by CDS are valid for 90 days from date of issuance. Subscription prices will not be prorated.
- All prices are net and not subject to discount.

Methods of Payment

- CDS customers are requested to maintain a balance on deposit in their account to expedite the processing of orders. It is suggested that a balance sufficient to cover three months of purchases be maintained to avoid the necessity of frequent deposits.
- All payments should be made by check or money order payable to "Chief, CDS." Do not send cash or postage stamps.
- International customers are required to submit payment in advance. CDS will accept International Money Orders or UNESCO coupons.
- Customers are requested to submit payment in U.S. dollars. Checks drawn on non-U.S. banks will be accepted, but customers who submit payment in non-U.S. funds will be responsible for all currency exchange charges. CDS customers are advised that they may be required to submit additional monies to cover currency exchange charges, if payment is made in non-U.S. funds.

Please Note: CDS cannot accept checks drawn on Canadian banks for amounts less than fifteen U.S. dollars ($15.00). CDS cannot accept checks drawn on other non-U.S. banks for amounts less than forty U.S. dollars ($40.00).

- CDS will provide a pro forma invoice upon request.
- Payment is due within 30 days of receipt of the monthly bill. Accounts delinquent for more than 90 days are subject to suspension of service.
- Each month, an itemized bill is sent to each customer for orders received by CDS; a Monthly Order Summary will also be sent for items charged against a CDS customer account. If there is a credit balance and no transactions have been made during the month, a monthly bill is not sent. Individual orders should be verified against the monthly bill, and any irregularity reported to CDS immediately.
- Remittances should be submitted to CDS with the lower portion of the monthly bill. A remittance advice or transmittal slip must accompany the remittance indicating the account number, the customer's name and the date of the bill. If a remittance is submitted for payment on more than one account, a complete breakdown of the total amount must be indicated either by stubs, remittance advice, or transmittal slips, listing each account number and the amount applicable to each account. Remittances received without proper identification cannot be credited to the customer's account and will be returned to the customer.

Mailing and Shipping Information

- Microfiche products available from CDS are shipped first class to domestic customers and by air mail to international customers.
- With the exception of microfiche products (as noted above), all other CDS products described in the Catalogs and Technical Publications brochure are sent to all customers by surface mail, prepaid by CDS. Domestic shipments are designated as "Special 4th Class" and international shipments are designated as "Printed Matter-Books."
- Air cargo collect or collect air freight shipment for paper publications (not subscriptions) is available for domestic customers and some international customers. Customers interested in this method of delivery must specifically request this special handling, when they place their orders. Customers are directly responsible to the carrier for all special shipping charges at point of destination.
